Codixo is an advanced IT services company that provides intelligent and cutting-edge solutions and services in different fields of information technology. Codixo was established in Erbil by IT professionals and was involved in several advanced projects with customers from both public and private business sectors.

Before its establishment, members of Codixo worked in the field of IT services in different countries such as Malaysia, Jordan and Iraq for years gaining the best and most up-to-date knowledge and experience in the field.

Our services range from graphics and web design to advanced enterprise solutions. We also provide Networking and Security solutions ranging from Home and Office network design and installation to CCTV setup and operation. We provide commercial and technical consultancy and work closely with our clients to achieve a modern and efficient IT environment for the sake of their business.

We participate in planning and organizing systematic advertising campaigns using the most modern strategies and technologies such as Collaborative Filtering, Mass Media and Targeted Advertising.

Our main goal is to introduce most of the modern technologies, services and strategies used by the IT sector in the world as projects here in Erbil. We are hoping and working hard to be the first to implement and lead the new age of IT in the region using technologies such as Social Networking, Collaborative Filtering and many more.

We are aiming at HR Development through sponsoring graduate students from local universities. We have also launched our collaborative skill development WorkWithUs program which is aiming at helping fresh graduates establish and realize their dreams in small business.

We are determined to be part of Kurdistan's rapid movement towards evolution and development. We are launching projects to support tourism, living and business starting from enterprise solutions to modern advertising.
